

Director Job Description

SierraConstellation Parnters, LLC, a Los Angeles based management consulting and business advisory firm that works with middle market companies in states of transition is looking for a Director level consultant.

Description:

- Outstanding personality with the social versatility to work with senior executives, private equity firms, lenders, lawyers, middle managers and line workers of middle market companies. No jerks need apply.
- History of exceptional work under time-constrained and otherwise pressure-filled circumstances.
- Mastery of financial modeling including three statement financial modeling, cash flow modeling, and expert level usage of formulas and macros.
- Mastery of communicating analysis through Microsoft Word and PowerPoint including expert level presentation, formatting, and quality control review.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills including strong e-mail etiquette.
- 2-3 years of investment banking, private equity or other formal financial modeling training at a reputable firm.
- 4+ years of additional experience, preferably at a middle-market operating company or firm that works with middle market companies (advisory, financial institution, or similar.)
- Always-On mentality and super-responsive nature.
- Strong background in transaction related business law and accounting concepts.
- Willingness to travel up to 70% of time.

Summary:

We work with middle market companies in transition and this person is a key member of a 2-3 person deal team that is integrally involved in client work. This is a career-track position. Our culture is highly entrepreneurial and energetic. We put a lot of responsibility on this person and ask them to perform. In exchange they are well compensated, cared for, and not burdened with face-time, administrivia, or other burdens of other consulting firms.

Compensation:

Highly competitive formula driven model with salary and thrice-yearly bonus payments. Competitive 'big company' health insurance, wellness and 401K programs.

Location:

Downtown Los Angeles